Click Here

Smokey bones employee pay stubs

Smokey Bones BBQ Integrated Inc. - a popular American casual dining restaurant chain founded in 2007. This well-established company, with its headquarters in Orlando, FL, has a strong preference for hiring University of Central Florida graduates, boasting an impressive 13.1% employee count from the same university. If you're interested in comparing Smokey Bones to other top-notch workplaces in Orlando, we recommend checking out Zippia's list of Best Companies to Work For in Orlando. The average annual salary at Smokey Bones is around $33,204, which may seem lower compared to some of its high-paying competitors like Hillstone Restaurant Group ($41,082), On The Border ($36,330), and The Habit Burger Grill ($35,732). With a substantial employee base of 3,700 individuals and an annual revenue of $200.0 million, Smokey Bones is a significant player in the hospitality industry. Interestingly, Smokey Bones has set its sights on raising the bar for BBQ experiences. Employee reviews, however, paint a more nuanced picture. Some employees appreciate the food, staff, and skills gained from working at Smokey Bones, but others express frustration with not enough funding to repair equipment, poor work ethic, and unsafe working conditions. When it comes to employee benefits, some workers feel that there is room for growth, while others are less optimistic about their job prospects. As a large company, Smokey Bones aims to promote diversity and inclusion within its workforce, boasting a diverse staff with 56% women and 44% men, with the most common ethnicity being White (66%). Key figures at Smokey Bones include Ryan Esko, who plays a crucial role in shaping the company's direction. With these statistics in mind, it's essential for employees to evaluate Smokey Bones' commitment to diversity and inclusion, using Zippia's insights as a starting point for their analysis. At Smokey Bones, a minority of employees identify as African American, with only 12% reporting Hispanic or Latino ancestry. The average salary for an employee is around $33,204 per year, although tenure varies at approximately 3.1 years. If you work at Smokey Bones, you may have questions about compensation and expectations. Compared to competitors Hillstone Restaurant Group, On The Border, and The Habit Burger Grill, Smokey Bones salaries are relatively lower, with average yearly earnings of $36,330, $35,732, and $41,082, respectively. For more information about Smokey Bones, you can visit their company profile on Zippia.